A PENITENTIARY CONVICT ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE—HE WAS SHOT BY THE GUARD.—Yesterday evening, while a number of the convicts at the Penitentiary were at work on the outside of the stockade, a colored man by the name of Riley Manning attempted to make his escape by flight to the woods near by. A member of the guard ordered him three times to halt, when he leveled his gun upon him. This did not have the desired effect of stopping the convict, but the ball from the gun did. As the guard fired his rifle the unfortunate man fell dead in his tracks.

Manning was from Columbus county, and committed to the Penitentiary for burglary. Coroner Magnin was notified yesterday evening by the officers of the Penitentiary, and an inquest will be held to-day.

RIGHTS VERDICT.—The trial of Belc, who murdered Evans in Hertford county about a year ago, and who was subsequently arrested in Baltimore, was concluded in Edenton on Wednesday, resulting in a verdict of murder in the first degree against the prisoner. On the petition of the defense the case was removed from Hertford to Edenton. This was a special term of the Chowan Court, and was presided over by Judge W. A. Moore.

HOUSE TO LET.—A capital chance to rent a comfortable house on Newbern Avenue is now offered. See the advertisement in to-day's issue.

THE CASE OF THE NOTORIOUS JOHN ALLEN KETCHY—AN IMPORTANT DECISION BY JUDGE BOYDEN.—The circumstances connected with the above named case are thus stated by the "Sentinel" in its yesterday's issue:

"The notorious John Allen Ketchy, as many of our readers will remember, was convicted some years ago at Guilford Court of horse stealing, and sentenced to seven years in the Penitentiary, but escaped at large until the Christmas holidays when he was arrested near Salisbury by Messrs. Samuel Reeves, Jr., John Beard and D. L. Bringle, and placed in Rowan jail. Afterwards J. G. Haughton, Mayor of Salisbury, issued his warrant for Ketchy, charging him with a rape upon the person of a very respectable young lady last Summer, and being adjudged, on an examination had before him, that there was probable cause, committed him for the capital offense to the jail of Rowan. Thereupon the sheriff of Guilford made application to the writ of habeas corpus so as to enable him to take Ketchy out of the hands of the sheriff of Rowan, to the end that he might be carried to the Penitentiary to serve out his sentence for horse stealing, and setting forth in his petition substantially the facts we have stated. Judge Boyden, by consent, retained the petition until after he came here to attend to his duties in the Supreme Court, and has just decided, that as between the sheriff of Rowan and Guilford, Ketchy must remain in the custody of the sheriff of Rowan."

After arriving in the city, Judge Boyden rendered his decision as follows:

"In this case it appears in the petition, that the prisoner, John Allen Ketchy, has been convicted of the crime of larceny in the Superior Court of Guilford, and sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor in the Penitentiary at Raleigh. It further appears that when in custody of the Sheriff, and before he had been delivered to the Keeper of the Penitentiary, the said prisoner made his escape; and while at large he is charged with having committed a capital felony in the county of Rowan, and that for this alleged offense the said prisoner has been arrested and regularly committed to the custody of the jail of Rowan county, there to await his trial for the alleged felony, to wit: for the crime of rape, and where he is now held in custody. The application for the writ of Habeas Corpus is on the part of the Sheriff of Guilford, from whose custody he escaped, for the purpose, as he states in his petition, of delivering the said prisoner to the Keeper of the Penitentiary."

Upon the above statement of facts, I am of opinion that the petitioner is not entitled to the custody of said prisoner, for the purpose alleged; but so far as this application is concerned, the said John Allen Ketchy must be retained in custody where he is now confined, there to await his trial for the crime for which he has been committed; and should he be convicted, he must there undergo the penalty denounced against the crime of rape; but should he be acquitted of this charge, he will then be sent to the prison at Raleigh, there to suffer the imprisonment at hard labor for the term fixed in his sentence by the judgment upon his conviction of the crime of larceny."

I will here further remark, that, in my opinion, the Sheriff of Guilford will be entitled to the same relief, if any, so far as the escape is concerned, by his confinement, at the instance of the State, in the jail of Rowan, as he would be had he obtained the custody of the prisoner and delivered him to the keeper of the penitentiary.

The application for the writ of habeas corpus is refused.

NATHANIEL BOYDEN, Ass. Justice Sup. Court.

Raleigh, N. C., January 9th, 1873.

SUPREME COURT.—Court met yesterday at 9 1/2 A. M. All of the Judges were present.

The only case argued before the court was from the 2nd Judicial District.

John G. Blount vs. R. C. Windley et al., Beaufort county. E. G. Haywood for plaintiff and Phillips & Merrimon for defendant.

This is a case of much interest, involving some very important points of law. The question involved is whether after the Commissioners of a Bank, appointed under the act of 1866, for the purpose of allowing the banks to go into liquidation, had obtained a judgment against a debtor of the bank, such debtor could purchase the notes of the bank, and use them as a set off against such judgment.

Mr. Haywood, counsel for plaintiff, is contending that the acts allowing bank notes to be used as set offs against the claims of the bank do not embrace his case, but if they do, then the acts are unconstitutional.

The case was argued at considerable length by Mr. Haywood, Mr. Phillips having delivered his argument at the last term of the court.

The decision is looked for with great interest, as many other cases of the same nature are doubtless pending in litigation.

The consideration of appeals from the 2nd District will be resumed to-day.

IN SEARCH OF LABOR.—Mr. Thompson, a prominent and leading planter of Wilson county, is in this city for the purpose of hiring hands for his cotton farm in that county. We do not object to our laborers going to other counties in the State, but seriously regret their departure from the State.

POSTPONED.—Mr. C. B. Harrison advises this morning that he has postponed the sale of the lots, advertised to be sold to-day, until Saturday next, the 18th inst. Parties wanting to purchase will examine them in the meantime.

THE FINALE OF THE HICKS OUTRAGE.

THE TWO DAYS' TRIAL, AND CONVICTION OF THE GUILTY PARTIES.

Alfred Jones, One of the Party Turns State's Evidence.

DEATH SENTENCE TO BE PRO-NOUNCED TO-DAY.

The grand finale of what was known in our columns as the Hicks outrage occurred yesterday by the conviction of the parties by a jury, ten twelfths of which was colored men.

The circumstances connected with the case, of which a full and detailed account were given at the time in the News, are briefly as follows:

The three colored men, Simpson, Mordecai, Tom Griffice, and Alfred Jones, called at the store of Mr. Hicks, about four miles from this city at about 12 o'clock, and after entering the store, attempted the murder of the proprietor, which they thought they had accomplished.

The store was then robbed of such articles as they could take away, and Mr. Hicks left for dead on the floor. Next day, the city police under the charge of Officers King and Farris, went out to ferret out and hunt up the case. In 24 hours the parties above named were arrested, and brought before the Mayor. The evidence was plain and conclusive, and the Mayor very properly committed them to the county jail, refusing bail.

The Grand Jury having found a true bill of indictment, the case came up for trial Wednesday morning, the proceedings as all will acknowledge were well acted, each of the actors sustaining their role admirably. We hope the performance will be repeated. We did not learn the amount taken in at the door, but judging from the size of the crowd it must have been considerable. Hickman is one of the banner Lodges of the United States, and we hope its prosperity may steadily increase.

RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT.—

The County Surveyor, Mr. Beavers, has nearly completed the survey on the old Fair Ground, and so soon as the plat is made out, the lots will be sold at auction.

To parties with the surplus funds we would say, that such an opportunity will not again present itself for investment, as all will acknowledge that Raleigh is improving and growing with more rapidity than any city in the South.

RETURNED.—Geo. L. Tonoffski, formerly a merchant of this city but for the past two years a citizen of Morrisville, on the N. C. R. R. has returned to this city, and will at once enter into his former business.

The Cotton Tax.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The friends of the cotton tax refunding scheme are making a powerful, and what they think, will prove a successful movement in furtherance of their object. A circular, accompanied by arguments of Judge B. R. Curtis, Messrs. Hughes, Shorkey Herschel V. Johnson, as well as, memorials and resolutions of nearly all the Southern States and cities, has been signed by all the members from the cotton States present. This circular, which, with accompanying papers, will be laid on the desk of every member, is a declaration that they intend to press the passage of an act at this session to round the tax collected by the general government after the close of the late war. They set forth that in their belief the law imposing cotton tax was unconstitutional; that it was unjust and oppressive in its operation; that it fell essentially upon producers and was passed when their States were wholly unrepresented under the mistaken idea that it would fall upon consumers. They ask for Congress a fair examination of the arguments submitted, which they claim demonstrate the correctness of their position and reasonableness of their demand. It is stated that this paper is signed unanimously by all the members of the House of Representatives now present from the cotton States irrespective of politics or color, and it is expected will have a powerful effect, and give dignity and force to the movement.

Movements of the President—Congressional, &c.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The President left for Annapolis this P. M., to attend a ball at the Naval Academy.

In the Senate to-day Ames introduced a bill to open all branches of the army to colored men. A resolution was adopted for appropriating one thousand dollars to defray the expenses of the Select Committee to investigate allegations against Senator Clayton. The Indian appropriation bill was passed, and the Senate adjourned till Monday.

House.—This being a private bill to-day a large number of such bills were received from the Committee. The Legislative Executive and Judicial appropriation bill was considered. An amendment to increase the appropriation for Bureau education was, after considerable discussion, rejected. The appropriation for the purchase and distribution of seeds for the Agricultural Bureau was increased from $50,000 to $75,000.

Upon the question of appropriating $400,000 to pay the judgments of the Court of Claims, an amendment was offered, providing that no part of it shall be applied to judgments for the proceeds of captured or abandoned property, seized before June 13th 1865, and that no such judgment shall be paid, except under special appropriation by Congress. Without action on this amendment, the House adjourned.

Singular Will Case.

Dr. Ralph V. Aulick, a son of Commodore Aulick, died very suddenly at his father's house, in Washington city, some months ago, the family believing at the time that he was unmarried. On the following morning a young lady, employed at the Treasury Department, and known as Miss Older, hearing the announcement of his death read from a newspaper, fainted, and it was soon made known that the deceased was her husband. In October last, the will of the deceased, made in Philadelphia in May last, was filed in the Probate Court, by which he left his property, consisting of ten shares of Cincinnati Gaslight Company stock, worth nearly $30,000, to his widow.

The father of the deceased filed a caveat to the will, and the Judge ordered that issues be made for trial at the present Court. The counsel for the executor, after preliminary remarks, said the family had come to the conclusion not to interpose further objections to the probate to the will. The counsel for the widow said there was now no course to take but to obtain a verdict, and a jury was accordingly sworn, and the issues being read, they returned a verdict that the testator was of sound mind at the time of making the will, and that it was not procured by fraud, artifice or undue influence.

The printing of pictures by a new method, known as the Helio-type process, is attracting much attention just now. The following will give an idea of how it is done: A sheet of gelatin treated with bichromate of potash, which renders it sensitive to light, is printed under an ordinary photographic negative. When the picture appears sufficiently plain the gelatin is taken and made to adhere to a plate. The process is in fact, what has long been sought-photographic printing. It can be applied to the protection of facsimiles of every variety of picture and engraving, rare prints, portraits, trade circulars, and can be even used in pottery and its kindred arts.

The Supreme Court of Appeal, Richmond, commenced on Wednesday, the consideration of the well known Levy vs. Levy case, which involves the title to the famous Monticello property.

The John's Mountain Iron Company, of Giles county, has been chartered by Judge Mahood, with a capital stock of $30,000, with leave to the incorporators to increase to $60,000. The object of the company is mining and manufacturing, smelting and refining iron.

From the Indianapolis Sentinel. A Horrible Story-What an Engineer Did with a Man who Disappeared a Railroad Track.

As the day of Cluck's execution approaches, horrible and ghastly topics are discussed in work shops, around the evening stove, in the corner grocery, and in many places of public resort. Children shudder, and cling closer to their mother's knee, as the garrulous old visitor narrates some story of a hanging, or the details of dark crime that occurred when she was a girl. The solemn, mysterious and the superstitious, which always surround a hanging, seems to be in the air; and, although the topic is a disgusting one, it must be confessed-not to the credit of humanity-that a morbid appetite in the public craves and demands the minute detail of the horrible barbarity. One of the many recalled stories which are borne upon the very wind like the following was told to a Sentinel reporter a night or two ago, and, to add to the horrid surroundings of the story, he was in a coffin shop, viewing the coffin which is to contain the last remains of the murderer Cluck. The story may be true one; more likely it is false, but it is given as it was detailed, and it may be that some one is still living that may remember the circumstances and write the tale. Some years ago there was a well known engineer, whose name is not given for good and sufficient reasons, who ran a passenger train on one of the most popular and most travelled roads that run out of Indianapolis. At a certain place on the road, every night for about a week, as the passenger train ran by and this engineer came thundering along, it was certain to be thrown from the track by obstructions placed there. Several of these mishaps to the train caused loss of life, and the company was becoming considerably alarmed, and the ability of the engineer was being seriously questioned. One night as the unfortunate train was nearing the fatal spot, the engineer, who had been sitting glum and silent at the throttle, turned to his fireman and said: "If the train jumps the track at that place to-night, you follow me; don't stop for anything, but keep close after me. Somebody has thrown this train off the track, and I am going to catch him."

When the train arrived at the usual place it struck a misplaced rail and was derailed. The engineer, closely followed by the fireman, jumped from the engine and ran into a cornfield and started up a man that lay concealed there. Upon bringing the culprit back to the wreck the enraged passengers wanted to lynch him, but the engineer, a stern, cold, determined man, prevented them, saying that he would take charge of him, and through the intervention of the conductor, the trembling wretch was left in charge of the engineer. The train was righted and was soon speeding on its way. The prisoner who had confessed his friendliness, had been seated on the engine and the fireman placed beside him as a guard. When the train was on a smooth piece of track, bowling along at the speed of twenty-five miles an hour, the engineer beckoned the fireman to stand out of the way. He stepped aside, and the engineer picked up a round stick of wood and struck the criminal such a blow upon the head that it stunned him. He then caught the quivering form of the poor wretch, and opening the furnace doors, threw his body into the hot, seething hell of flames. The doors were shut, the train rattled along, and never, until upon his death-bed the engineer confessed the act, was it ascertained what had been the fate of the fiend who had been in the habit of throwing the train off the track.

THE PRINTING OF PICTURES BY A NEW METHOD, known as the Helio-type process, is attracting much attention just now. The following will give an idea of how it is done: A sheet of gelatin treated with bichromate of potash, which renders it sensitive to light, is printed under an ordinary photographic negative. When the picture appears sufficiently plain the gelatin is taken and made to adhere to a plate. The process is in fact, what has long been sought-photographic printing. It can be applied to the protection of facsimiles of every variety of picture and engraving, rare prints, portraits, trade circulars, and can be even used in pottery and its kindred arts.

FRATERNAL LOVE.

BY CHARLES SPRAGUE.

We are but two—the others sleep
Through death's untrodden night:
We are but two—on the link that binds us,
The link that binds us tight.

Heart leaps to heart—the sacred flood
That's in us is the same;
That good old man—the honest blood,
Alike we fondly claim.

We in one mother's arms were locked,
Long be her love and care;
In the same cot we were rocked,
Round the same hearth we played.

Our boyish spirits were all the same,
Each little joy and woe;
Let manhood keep alive the flame,
Lit up so long ago.

We are but two—the bond that binds
To hold us till we die;
Shoulder to shoulder let us stand,
Till side by side we lie.

A Penitentiary Romance.

There is now in the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison, an aged couple who are serving out a term for the crime of incest, they being brother and sister. The story is this: At the age of twelve years the male left his father's house to seek his fortune and to no more return. He, in time, came West, grew to manhood and married, raised a family of children, and finally his wife died. His sister grew to womanhood, was married, and with her husband came west, and to Iowa. Her husband died, and in time she received an offer of marriage from a man who was a widower. She accepted the offer and they were married. Her husband was wealthy, and after a time one of his sons wished to have the father give him some property, but the father refused to accede to his demands. The son one day, while looking over the family record of the stepmother, which had been laid aside and forgotten, discovered that there was a kinship between the families, and a further investigation proved that his father and stepmother were own brother and sister. To avenge himself for his father's refusal to give him a bulk of his property, he brought suit against them both for incest. They were tried and convicted and sent to the penitentiary for one year. They are both over 60 years of age, and as innocent of intent to commit crime as the newborn babe.—Chicago Journal.

CURIOUS AND USEFUL CROW.—J. Snyder, of Virginia, owns a crow which serves as a substitute for dogs, cats and all other domestic sentinels. He destroys every frog about the well; allows a mouse no chance for his life; drives away hawks from the poultry, and bids fair to act as the best squirrel dog in the country. He readily spies the squirrel, either upon the fence or on the trees, and, with a natural antipathy to the squirrel tribe, his shrill, keen note is readily detected by his owner, accompanied by rapid darts up and down, and the owner is thus led to the game. The most remarkable feature about the crow is that he invariably keeps five or six days rations ahead of time, well concealed.
